

THE WRITINGS OF
HENRY DAVID THOREAU

JOURNAL

EDITED BY BRADFORD TORREY

VII

SEPTEMBER 1, 1854—OCTOBER 30, 1855

BOSTON AND NEW YORK
HOUGHTON MIFFLIN AND COMPANY

The Riverside Press, Cambridge

1906

COPYRIGHT 1906 BY HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO.

All rights reserved

CONTENTS

- CHAPTER I. September, 1854 (Æt. 37) 3
- Early Autumnal Change — An Unhatched Turtle — A Season of Fires — A Little Snapping Turtle — Evening on the River — Decay of the River Weeds — At Sam Barrett's — Incessant Lightning — Sunset on the River — Hearing at Night — The Fragrance of Grapes — A Talk with Garfield — Green-Briar Leaves — Tortoise Eggs — Young Pickerel — Notes on Birds — A Newly Hatched Turtle — The Notes of Wild Pigeons — A Looming Hill — A Burning — The Great Bidens — A Flock of Great Yellow-Legs — Luxury and Robbery — The Instinct of a Young Turtle — Fringed Gentian — The Advantages of Obscurity and Poverty — The First Frosty Mornings — Lace-edged Leaves — Scarlet Oak Acorns — Sassafras Berries — The Stages of the River Fall — Changing Foliage — A Splendid Sunset — The Red of the Young Oaks — Red Maple and Tupelo.
- CHAPTER II. October, 1854 (Æt. 37) 63
- Lecturing and Surveying in Plymouth — An Excursion to Wachusett Mountain — The View from Wachusett — Indian Summer.
- CHAPTER III. November, 1854 (Æt. 37) 68
- Shadows and Reflections — Pirate Money — Geese going Over — To Philadelphia — The Academy of Natural Sciences — Philadelphia and New Jersey — A Call on Greeley and a Visit to Barnum's Museum — Concord River again.
- CHAPTER IV. December, 1854 (Æt. 37) 78
- Lecturing — Snow-Crust — A Mirror with an Icy Frame — Skating — A Flock of Redpolls — A Winter Morning — Channing's Skating — The American Love of Jest — A Visit at Ricketson's in New Bedford — A Trip to Nantucket — Raising Pines on Nantucket — Siasconset — Nantucket Verses.

CHAPTER V. January, 1855 (Æt. 37) 99

Lecturing in Worcester — A Walk to Quinsigamond Pond — An Indian's Wigwam — A Wire-Rolling and Drawing Mill — A Cocoon — A Lichen Day — Winter Vegetation — Kalmia glauca — Early New England Writers — Andromeda in Beck Stow's Swamp — Skating in a Snow-Storm — The Cawing of a Crow — Oak Leaves in Winter — A Call on Dr. T. W. Harris — The Blue in Snow — The Snow-draped Woods — A Walk with Tappan — A Pleasing Structure — Birch Seeds and Bird-Tracks — Pines and Oaks in Winter — A Winter Freshet — William Wood's "New England's Prospect" — The Andromeda Ponds — Rose-colored Ice — Fluttering Oak Leaves — A Perfect Hunter's Morn — A Pitch Pine Cone — January Weather — A Lodging Snow — Maryland and her Lotteries — A Fox's Track — Walking in another Man's Tracks — Fine Skating — Three Partridges — Muskrat-Hunting.

CHAPTER VI. February, 1855 (Æt. 37) 160

The Skater's Music — Tracks in the Snow — Skating through Snow — Snow-Steam — Skating on Concord River — Weather and the Journal — A Cold Night — A Talk with R. Rice — Ice over a Dry Swamp — Blue in the Air — Partridge-Tracks — Tracks of the White Rabbit — A Feather Frost — Sounds in a Fog — Description of a Mouse — Working to save a Bridge — A Spring-suggesting Light — Travelling in a Freshet — Lecturer and Audience — Another Mouse described — The Quadrupeds of Concord — March Days in February — The Peterboro Mountains — Weasels and Squirrels — The Drumming of the Partridge — Ice-Cakes on Bare Ground — Staples's Opinion of Wendell Phillips's Oratory — The Ice-Cakes — Fresh-water Clam Shells — Clear, Cold Weather — Ice-Cakes and Meadow-Crust — The Making of a Ravine.

CHAPTER VII. March, 1855 (Æt. 37) 220

The Last Day for Skating — The Moving of the Meadow —

The Ice on the Dry Meadows — Pine Cones and Squirrels — The River breaking up — The Cutting of the Woods — A White Pine Cone — The First Robin — Drops of Pitch — A Pine Marten's Foot — The Deer Mouse — Ducks in the River — The Meadow-Crust — Nests of Mice — A Deer Mouse — A Mouse and her Young — The Woodchuck's Waking — Two Large Ducks — Marks of Ice on Trees — A Herring Gull — A Paddle up River — Water-worn Ice — The Havoc made by the Ice — Some Early Spring Birds — A Flying Squirrel — The River wriggling in its Bed — Signs of Spring — A Mink — Ducks on the River — A Skunk's Probings — A Cold but Wholesome Wind — November and March — The First Warm Day.

CHAPTER VIII. April, 1855 (Æt. 37) 279

April Rain — High Winds — A Talk with Daniel Garfield — Birds by the Riverside — The April Waters — The Goosander — Skinning a Duck — Early Spring Greens — The Earliest Flowers — The Rusty Grackle's Notes — Sheldrakes — White Maple and Alder — Using the Spy-Glass — Croaking Frogs — Hazel in Bloom — A Cloudy Day on the River — A Fish Hawk — Gulls on the Meadow — A Small Hawk — A Warm April Day — Golden-Eyes and Sheldrakes — Doves on the Roof — Woodchucks — A Sea-Turn — A Little Duck — The Sringo — Letters from Peter Thoreau — Black Ducks — Goosanders — Hawks — The White-throated Sparrow — Sunday Birds and Blossoms — A Bay-Wing — A Woodchuck — Snipes on the Meadow — Barn Swallows — A Pair of Red-tailed Hawks — Young Foxes.

CHAPTER IX. May, 1855 (Æt. 37) 344

The Red-tailed Hawks' Nest — The Bills, Feet, and Wings of Hawks — MacGillivray on the Harrier — A Talk with Humphrey Buttrick — More Birds — Leafing Trees and Shrubs — An Angry Crow — An Unaccountable Fragrance — Climbing Trees — A Screech Owl on its Nest — The Screech Owl and its Eggs — A Crow Blackbird's Nest — Black Snakes — The Owl's Nest — A Fish Hawk — Sounds at Sundown — Yellow

Birch Swamp — An Olive-sided Flycatcher (?) — Yellow-Legs — Oak Tassels — A Rose-breasted Grosbeak — Sedges, Rushes, and Grasses — A Screech Owl — Kalmia glauca — A Blackburnian Warbler — The Yellow-Legs again — A Scarlet Tanager — A Thrush — Redstarts — The Evergreen-Forest Bird.

CHAPTER X. June, 1855 (Æt. 37) 401

A Cecropia Moth — A Nest of Young Spiders — A Puzzling Warbler — A Well-concealed Nest — Two Catbirds' Nests — More Birds' Nests — A Violent Wind — The Olive-sided Flycatcher — The Unfound Friend — The Toad and its Song — More Birds' Nests — A Peewee and its Young — Under a Boat in the Rain — A Tortoise laying her Eggs — More Birds' Nests.

CHAPTER XI. July, 1855 (Æt. 37-38) 431

The Start for Cape Cod — Provincetown — At Highland Light — Broom Crowberry — Blackfish — Uncle Sam Small — The Upland Plover — Cape Cod Notes — The Sail back to Boston — Some Birds' Eggs — Bullfrogs and Trip-Hammer.

CHAPTER XII. August, 1855 (Æt. 38) 447

Migrating Swallows — A Blue Heron — Five Summer Ducks — Cowbirds and Cows.

CHAPTER XIII. September, 1855 (Æt. 38) 454

A Hen-Hawk — The Old Hunt House — A Boat-Load of Fuel — Barberrying — The Circus — Collecting Driftwood — Mole Crickets — To Ricketson's, New Bedford — The Blackfish — Toby's Pond — Long Pond in Middleborough — Two Bright Irish-American Girls — Arthur Ricketson's Collection.

CHAPTER XIV. October, 1855 (Æt. 38) 469

Thomas Bewick's Thumb-Mark — A Snail — New Bedford — Ride to Middleborough — An Old Indian Burying-Ground — Assawampsett Pond — An Historic Turtle — Tom Smith and his Squaw — Sabbatia — A Walk along the Acushnet — Two

Old Fairhaven Houses — A Blue Heron — A Ride to Plymouth — On Concord River again — Water-logged Wood — A Hornets' Nest — The Carpet of Pine-Needles — The Roots of the Yellow Lily — Gold-Digging — A Broken Tortoise-Shell — The Rush to California and Australia — An Irishwoman's Fagots — The Reflection of the Sun — Fourierism and Communities — Striped Squirrels' Holes — A Wood-Pile with a History — Poverty and Simplicity — William Allen — Two Gray Squirrels — The Beauty of Wild Apples — A Corsair Hawk — Autumn Colors of Shrubs — Some Brilliant Trees — Robbing a Chestnut Tree — An Old Picture of Concord — The Old Conantum House — Frostweed — A Squirrel eating an Apple — The Flavor of Wild Apples — A Screech Owl — The Tang of a Wild Apple — The Cemetery of the Leaves.